

Policy concerning the management of cookies

Metz Dániel would like to send cookies on your computer, to improve the user experience on the <https://www.metzdaniel.hu/> site.

In accordance with the European Union regulations, we hereby inform you about the way we use cookies.

This policy was created by Metz Dániel (head office: 9-10, Nagy Ferenc Square, Pécs, 7632) in order to summarize the most important information related to the use of cookies.

The protection of your information and open communication concerning the usage thereof is important to us. The information is of indicative nature as it helps to make spending time on our websites enjoyable.

Firstly: what is a cookie?

It is a small-sized text file containing data, which is stored on the computer when visiting a website. Its aim is to enable websites to remember your activities when you visit them. Thus, for instance it stores data concerning whether you clicked on a link or page, whether you logged in with your username, read certain pages on the website months or even years earlier.

There are several types of cookies, and without them the websites would not function the way you are accustomed to. Metz Dániel's websites provide the best user experience by using cookies, and they only contain the most essential and useful ones.

In accordance with the new regulations, the types of cookies used on our websites are listed below, thus you can decide whether you wish to keep them, delete the existing ones or ban each of them.

What types of cookies can be found on the websites of Metz Dániel?

The cookies can be ones that are valid during the given session, or can be permanent cookies, and we can make a distinction between cookies originating from the first party or from a third party. These expressions are explained below, so you can better understand the cookies used by us and the reason why they are applied.

Cookies valid during the time of the browsing session

The cookies valid during the time of the browsing session enable you to be recognised when you visit a website, and enable the browser to remember any change of page or choice from page to page. These cookies can enable you to pass through several pages of a website fast and easily, without identifying yourself on every visited page, or repeating processes. The cookies valid during the time of the browsing session are temporary and they expire as soon as you close your browser or log out from the website.

Permanent cookies

Permanent cookies are cookies that stay "permanent" on your computer for a given period of time after the termination of the browsing session, thus they enable the preferences and activities of users to be recalled even when they visit the website at a later time.

Cookies from the website operator

These are cookies originating from the operator, website of the browsed website.

Cookies from a third party

Cookies can also be own (internal) ones or can originate from a third party (external). The internal cookies are set by the Metz Dániel website visited by you, and the external cookies are set by someone else. Metz Dániel exclusively allows the placement of cookies they had previously approved of.

The files of Google Analytics are necessary for monitoring the website, and also for obtaining information concerning the way the website is used. This information is used for preparing statistics and to improve the portal further. The files of Google Analytics store the information in an anonymous way, for instance as the number of visitors to a page or the visited subpages. These files are set by Google Analytics. For further information, please visit the following website: <http://www.google.com/analytics>. In order to ban the tracking by Google Analytics on every page, please visit <http://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout>.

The cookies used by Metz Dániel on the website <http://metzdaniel.hu> are listed in appendix 1.

Allowing cookies

Cookies are only placed on your computer, telephone or tablet with your consent. You can give your consent by clicking on the “I accept” button of the popup window concerning cookies. If you do not want the cookies related to our website to be placed on your computer, telephone or tablet, the website probably will not function appropriately. Even if you initially allow the use of cookies, you can decide to ban and delete cookies any time in the settings of your internet browser. However, we must raise your attention to the fact that without using cookies you will not have access to several functions which make the browsing experience easier, and some services might not function appropriately.

The setting and deletion of cookies

If you decide not to use cookies, delete them from the cookie folder of your browser. You can also set your browser to block cookies or issue a warning message before storing a cookie. This settings are normally available in the browser’s “settings” or “preferences” menu. Should you have any further questions, we suggest you to visit the website “All About Cookies”: <http://www.allaboutcookies.org>.
